Iran turns down temporary ceasefire; insists on need for a definitive end to conflict: Clock ticks down for Iran as Trump says truce proposal from mediators 'not good enough': (Economy: Neutral to Positive)

Iran said it wanted a lasting end to the war with the US and Israel, and pushed back against pressure to reopen the Strait of Hormuz while US President Donald Trump warned the country could be "taken out" if it did not meet his Tuesday night deadline to reach a deal and that a truce proposal from international mediators was not yet enough. Trump had earlier accepted the ceasefire plan as a "significant proposal", but went on to say it was not good enough. Iranian state media quotes officials stating that Tehran too "has rejected a ceasefire and insists on the need for a definitive end to the conflict". Trump said intermediaries "are negotiating now" on improving the ceasefire proposal, which US media reported was being mediated by Pakistan, Egypt and Turkey.

Pakistan confirms Iran-US peace process going on: (Economy: Neutral to Positive)

Pakistan confirmed that the 'peace process' between Iran and the United States is going on but declined to comment on the specifics, as speculations about an "Islamabad Accord " was doing the rounds. Tahir Andrabi, Spokesperson at the Foreign Office, was asked to comment on Reuters report that Pakistan along with other regional countries was trying to broker a 45-day ceasefire between Iran and the United States that could lead to a permanent end to the war. "Regarding reports of a 45-day ceasefire or 15-point exchange, we do not comment on such specifics. Our position remains that the peace process is ongoing," he said.

UAE's $3bn loan move puts Pakistan under strain: (Economy: Negative)

Pakistan's economy, already under strain from soaring oil prices, is facing a new setback after it failed to reach agreement with the United Arab Emirates to roll over $3 billion in debt for the first time in seven years, according to Bloomberg. The loan amounts to about 18 per cent of Pakistan's foreign exchange reserves, putting significant pressure on the country's external buffers and threatening the currency at a time when high crude prices are draining its coffers. The State Bank of Pakistan's reserves stood at $16.4 billion as of March 27, enough to cover three months of imports. It's unclear what prompted the UAE to call in the loan now. Pakistan's Ministry of Foreign Affairs said on April 4 the move was a "routine financial transaction", seeking to downplay speculation of a possible political fallout between the two countries. Local media reports pointed to a breakdown in negotiations over the terms of a rollover.

IMF assured on civil servants' asset declarations, NAB autonomy: (Economy: Neutral to Positive)

Pakistan has shared with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) in writing its commitment to implement anti-corruption measures, including the publication of asset declarations of civil servants by the end of December 2026 and granting autonomy to the National Accountability Bureau (NAB) under a Structural Benchmark (SB) by January 2027. To provide independence and operational autonomy to the leading anti-corruption agency, NAB's institutional independence will be ensured through a transparent selection process for senior management and the publication of operating rules and statistics, under the new structural benchmark set for end-January 2027. The government has given a written commitment to the IMF that it will review and improve the appointment process for the NAB chairman.

SBP introduces new measures to facilitate IT exporters, freelancers: (Economy: Positive)

The SBP unveiled a set of reforms to facilitate IT exporters and freelancers, scrapping repetitive documentation, introducing a one-day transaction processing timeline, and moving towards a fully digital reporting framework to support the country's rapidly growing tech exports sector. These reforms are designed to simplify the export realization procedures, standardize documentation requirements, set transaction processing timelines, and strengthen complaint resolution mechanisms. As per new key facilitation measures, IT companies and freelancers will no longer be required to submit Form "R" for every individual export transaction. Instead, they will provide a one-time declaration, clearly specifying the nature of services being offered overseas, at the time of opening of new account and, in the case of existing customers, as and when required.

Carbon levy likely to be doubled in FY27 budget: (Economy: Negative)

The federal government is preparing to significantly increase its carbon taxation framework, with plans to double the Carbon Levy on petroleum products from Rs2.5 to Rs5 per litre in the upcoming fiscal year 2026–27. The move follows last year's introduction of the Carbon Levy in the Budget 2025–26, where authorities imposed a Rs2.5 per litre charge on key petroleum products including Motor Spirit (petrol), High-Speed Diesel, and Furnace Oil. The levy was positioned as both a revenue-generating measure and a step toward addressing environmental challenges linked to carbon emissions. Under the proposed changes, the Carbon Levy will rise uniformly to Rs5 per litre starting next fiscal year, effectively doubling the burden on emissions-heavy fuels. The Carbon Levy remains separate from the existing Petroleum Levy, reinforcing a dual taxation structure aimed specifically at discouraging carbon-intensive fuel consumption while maintaining traditional revenue streams from petroleum products.

Refineries set for Rs22bn windfall: (Economy: Negative)

Pakistan's daily diesel demand hovers around 16,000 MT while local production stands at 14,000 MT, suggesting local production covers approximately 87 per cent of diesel demand at normal times. For the record, Pakistan's ex-refinery prices are set at import parity (meaning local refineries are paid as if they had imported the fuel from the international market, regardless of their actual production cost). Between April 2025 and November 2025, gross refining margins for refineries climbed from $4.5 per barrel to $13.3 per barrel, nearly a three-fold increase. During the current crisis with diesel at Rs520 per litre ex-pump and crude at elevated but lower levels, the refinery margins have almost certainly exploded further. Imagine: Selling refined products at import parity prices that embed elevated international crack spreads and capturing an enormous margin, not because of any efficiency or any new investment, but because the government set the ex-refinery price at import parity. Red alert: The government justified the diesel hike on international prices, which is legitimate for imports but questionable for domestic production. Yes, the government's framing is entirely valid for the approximately 13 per cent of diesel that is imported. But, the government's framing is misleading for the 87 per cent that is produced domestically. Domestic refineries face no Hormuz premium. Domestic refineries face no war-risk insurance surcharge. Domestic refineries face no rerouting cost. And yet they receive the same inflated ex-refinery price. For Pakistan's refineries, after accounting for refining costs, the all-in domestic production cost is significantly below ex-refinery price of Rs461. This implies a windfall margin. Refineries do, of course, produce furnace oil at negative margins, which partially offsets these gains. Operating costs, depreciation, and financing charges must also be considered. Even after adjusting for these factors, a conservative estimate places the net windfall margin at around Rs100 per litre.

PIA suspends Gulf, China flights over fuel costs: (Economy: Negative)

The Pakistan International Airlines (PIA) has decided to suspend its flights to Beijing, Kuala Lumpur and destinations in the Middle East over recent hikes in jet fuel prices, the airline said on Monday. Jet fuel prices have soared from $85 to $90 per barrel to $150 to $200 per barrel in recent weeks, a financial hit for an industry where fuel accounts for up to a quarter of operating expenses. PIA said on Monday it is suspending flights to Gulf countries, except Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates, till the end of April, while flights to Beijing and Kuala Lumpur will be suspended from April 11 and 14, respectively. "PIA management has taken the decision in the context of the fourth increase in expensive jet fuel," the airline said. "The entire burden of fuel prices cannot be put on passengers, so some strict administrative decisions have been taken."
