MORNING NEWS

Oil falls over 6% as Trump predicts Middle East de-escalation: (Economy: Neutral to Positive)

Oil prices fell on Tuesday after hitting their highest level in more than three years in the prior session as US President Donald Trump predicted the war in the Middle East could end soon, easing concerns about prolonged disruptions to global oil supplies. Brent futures fell $6.51, or 6.6%, to $92.45 a barrel at 0018 GMT, while US West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude was down $6.12, or 6.5%, to $88.65. Oil prices surged past $100 a barrel on Monday, hitting session highs of $119.50 for Brent and $119.48 for WTI, their highest since mid-2022, as supply cuts by Saudi Arabia and other producers during the expanding U.S.-Israeli war with Iran stoked fears of major disruptions to global supplies.

SBP holds rate at 10.5pc amid ME war inflation fears: (Economy: Negative)

The State Bank of Pakistan kept its key interest rate unchanged at 10.5 per cent on Monday, in line with expectations, as surging oil prices and regional conflict pose upside risks to inflation and create uncertainty about the country's economic outlook. "The MPC noted that the conflict in the Middle East has led to a sharp increase in global fuel prices as well as freight and insurance costs, while also affecting cross-border trade and travel," the central bank said in a statement. "Given the evolving nature of events, the MPC observed that the intensity and duration of the conflict will both be important determinants of the impact on the domestic economy," it added.

PM unveils austerity measures, orders four-day workweek amid Middle East war concerns: (Economy: Negative)

Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif on Monday announced sweeping austerity and energy conservation measures, including a four-day workweek for government offices, as Pakistan braces for the potential economic impact of the ongoing Middle East conflict. Addressing the nation, the premier said government offices would operate only four days a week, with one additional weekly holiday introduced as part of fuel conservation efforts. He added that 50% of government staff would work from home, while schools would remain closed for two weeks starting next week. However, banks will continue to operate as usual. Sharif said a meeting was convened earlier in the day to review the situation, during which several austerity measures were discussed and approved. Giving details, he said that for the next two months the fuel allowance of official vehicles would be cut by 50%, adding that ambulances would be exempt from the measure. He further said that 60% of all government vehicles would remain off the roads for the next two months as part of efforts to reduce fuel consumption.

Inflation to remain above 7pc till FY27: SBP: (Economy: Neutral)

The evolving geopolitical situation and recent surge in international and domestic oil prices have uncertain the inflation outlook, with the State Bank of Pakistan (SBP) expecting inflation to remain above 7 percent during the remaining months of FY26 and into FY27, citing risks from volatile food prices, potential adjustments in domestic energy tariffs, and uncertainties arising from ongoing geopolitical tensions. According to SBP's monetary policy statement, as expected, headline inflation rose to 7.0 percent y/y in February, largely due to phasing out of low base effect from food and energy prices, along with rationalisation of fixed charges on households' electricity bills. Meanwhile, core inflation increased to around 7.6 percent.

How will govt raise tax after axing Super Tax, cutting tax on salaries, asks IMF: (Economy: Negative)

The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has questioned the government's ability to raise revenue in the upcoming budget after the abolition of Super Tax and reduction in the tax rates for the salaried class, it is learnt. The IMF mission, holding parleys virtually with Pakistani authorities, argues that one-time measures such as litigation, enforcement and outstanding installment of Super Tax might enable the FBR to collect Rs13,400 to Rs13,500 billion by the end of June 2026, but how it will help achieve the tax collection target of the fiscal year 2026-27. The Pakistani authorities' response is that these would not be one-time measures, as the resolution of cases pending with the courts would also yield billions of rupees in the coming budget. "The IMF mission will hold parleys in May 2026 to finalise the upcoming budget where all relevant details will be firmed up," said official sources. The IMF has also asked for adjusting the rupee against the US dollar in accordance with the Real Effective Exchange Rate (REER). Such a decision may see the rupee depreciating in the range of Rs290 to 300 against US dollar from the existing rate of around Rs280. In a meeting held at the Prime Minister's Office, the government decided to request the IMF to abolish Super Tax and reduce the salaried class rate by 5 percent for the next budget. However, in a virtual meeting held on Friday, a heated debate occurred when the IMF mission raised objections that if they agreed to a reduction in the overall tax collection after accepting one-time measures, then how the next fiscal year target would be materialised.

Uplift budget diversion, IMF's relief on petrol levy to cushion future oil price shocks: (Economy: Positive)

The government is weighing a set of financial and policy options to prevent further increases in petroleum prices if global oil rates continue to surge amid the expanding regional conflict following the US-Israel attack on Iran, an official source said on Monday. Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif in a televised address on Monday, warned that the region had been gripped by conflict and acknowledged that international crude prices had already jumped sharply, forcing the government to make difficult decisions, including a recent increase of Rs55 per litre in petrol and diesel prices. He, however, indicated that in case the global oil price further goes up, the government would try not to shift the burden on to the people. When approached, a well-placed official source said the government would explore ways to absorb part of any further increase in the global oil bill to avoid passing the entire burden on the consumers. He said, one option could be diverting a portion of the federal development budget to finance the additional cost of oil imports if international prices continue to rise. The move would allow the government to cushion the impact on domestic fuel prices at a time when inflationary pressures remain high.
